DEDHAM BEATS WESTCHESTER IN FINALS AT POINT JUDITH.

Narragansett Pier, R. I., Aug. 9 (Special) .- The pole tournament of the Point Judith Country Club closed to-day under delightful auspices. After nearly three weeks of steady play, in which a score of contests have been decided in the pres-ence of Newport and Narragansett society, it was should round out the tourney and thus settle the ownership of the Narragansett trophies, each team having met and defeated all comers in previous hours. Being aware that to-day's game was the last on the schedule, society turned out in force to bid the poloists farewell, and so large was the growd and so great the demand for vehicles that onveyance of any description could be had the Pier at any price, everything on wheels the game. By some the Westchester men were backed heavily to win, but the majority had in mind the fact that the New-York Country Club men had to allow the Dedhamites four goals, and wisely put their money on the latter, for as mated out the Westchesters had a sick man instead of a player in championship form on their Waterbury, on whom much dended, not being in anything like his usual con-tion. His brother "Monte" did his best to make waxed brilliant, but the support was not where it was most needed, and so cohesive action became less marked as absolute defeat stared the team in The Dedham delegation proved, as it has done right through this meeting, that it is a startly drilled organization, with a system of tenalling that kept every man in his correct pogame when the ball dropped, and at least of harm's way. Polo, like most other sports. an only be properly played and success at it thoroughly drilled teams. Individual coellence, indomitable pluck and extraordinary fexterity may sometimes appeal to the bystanders, the combined strength of a solid phalanx all comers. This the Dedhams have, and the Westchesters have not, therefore the former found it easy to-day to score twelve goals, which, with their handicap allowance of four, made their total sixteen, as against five and three-quarter goals carned by the New-Yorkers. The teams were as follows:

Referee Hazard threw in the ball at play at 4 p. m., and Forbes jumped at it like a cat after a mouse, and drove it west in brilliant style. Then ame some pretty work at the goalposts, but the ball was bound to go through from Forbes's clever first blood thus falling to the Dedhams. Then, by mistake, the players dallied with an outside ball, and the referee ordered them back to he line. As it shot into midfield, Reynal tried to interfere with his opponent, but Crane tipped it, Seeckman getting in a pretty saving stroke later devnal should next have come through, but t, and Forbes would have scored had not "Monte" aterbury's mallet blocked the ball. An over hand stroke from "Larry" Waterbury and some pretty play on Clarke's part resulted in the ball oing north and then across to the east corner, Forbes gave the ball the proper slant, and scored amid tremendous enthusiasm. got a chance for a long lead, and as the player inched in the east, "Larry" back tipped well, so got on neatly and scored the firs al for Westchester.

cals for his side, the last after he and Forbes ad taken a pretty run. It was in the second period here some of the choicest polo of the day was layed. Crane had put the ball to centre, and oodwin had shown a splendid play, until Beeckan put his avoirdupois up against a player in show, effectually keeping him off the ball. Then Larry Waterbury saved the goal, and "Monte ook the ball across the field. "Larry then came ong in which wind fashion, and put his whole reach into an offside stroke that sent his mailet to splinters he then prettily interfering with two ponents, trotting his pony over the ball, and an hipping the sphere along with his headless ck. The Deihams complained, as "Larrys" in brought a new mallet to him, but the referee not see it. Forbes scored two minutes later only goal made in the second pedior, which will laste the rare housekeeping that Beeckman was able of Beeckman almost carried his team his heavy bout, and much credit is due him for king.

third period the Westchester men as go-their bolt, and right nobly did they acqui es. For an opening Goodwin, of the De-lied lightly off his pony and the nag car ay to its stable companions. Forty-fiv later, however, he showed himself muc seconds later, however, he showed himself much in the game by sending the ball whizzing through the goal posts of Westchester. Then Beeckman's agoal for safety hitting. "Monte" Waterbury, however, changed the tune of the sceptics by turning a hard driven ball neatly, interfering well with a player in yellow and then shooting out west like a veritable meteor and scoring to most voctferous applicates. Goodwin then lent a little variety to the proceedings by running into Forbes, the latter soing to earth and his nony rolling over him. With another mount he was however, soon back into the geme, and he and "Monte" Waterbury kept the referee busy registering a roal for each. Then it came "Larry" Waterbury's turn to hypnotize the sudience by carrying the ball in brilliant style the full length of the green, and then after some lough luck scoring in fine form, his brother "Monte" had lofted the ball toward the posts.

Some pretty racins by Reynal next ensued, but the Dednam signal system was telling its tale and to best on the part of the yellow men made mattlers so casy that after "Monte" Waterbury had scored once in the final period his team never argan saw the Dedham stronghold. On the contrary the Dednamites Clarke, Crane and Forbes each visited the Westchester house in turn, Clarke getting by Beeckman's guard no less than three times before the bell rang. The summary of the score follows:

BUT CHILDREN AND SUMMER GIRLS WILL GET

The manufacturers of candy have decided to raise the price of their product, but, if their word may be taken for it, children and summer maidens need have no fear. The makers of sweet things say that the retail price will go no higher, and they incidentally hint that the men who sell to the consumers have had the best of it all along. Several retailers who were asked yesterday said that there would be no advance in price, as far as they clay-st., announced that the advance would average about 20 per cent on all kinds of candies. "Prices have been way down." he said, "and they had reached a point where something had to be done. Our expenses are far greater than ever before. The machinery is costly, and labor is high. We are paying more for our stock than in the past. This season the demand for candies is enormous—the biggest in years. The orders have not only been larger from the home trade, but imports are increasing enormously. We now ship candies to every port in the world, including the Philippines. It seemed a good time, therefore, to raise the price. The jobbers were selling on too small a margin, and the advance has been made primarily on that account."

The crop prospects in those States Mr. Miller found to be excellent. The corn crop, he says, will be as large as in any previous year. Of oats there will be a full crop in Iowa and about two-thirds of th usual crop in Missouri. The outlook for the hay crop is good, and about three-quarters of the usual crop of fax will probably be harvested. NEW-ENGLAND RAILROAD RUMORS. NEW YORK'S OCEAN TRIP

LONG BRANCH. MORE REPORTS OF COMING CONSOLIDA-

The offer for the Fitchburg Railroad by the New-York Central has revived the rumors of coming New-England railroad consolidations and changes. At the time of the Boston and Albany merger, The Tribune announced, exclusively, that the New-York Central had offered to lease the Fitchburg upon a 4 per cent basis. This has since been confirmed by officials of both roads. The offer at that time was refused, but it is believed that the deal will be

The disposition of the New-Haven Railroad is another thing which interests many people. It will be only a matter of time, so those say who are in a position to know, until this road is swallowed up by the New-York Central, which hems it in, in a sense, since it acquired the Boston and Albany. The relations between the New-York Central and the Pennsylvania are such that when the time comes for the New-Haven's acquisition, important railroad men say, the Pennsylvania will have a word to say about its transfer and may get some of the property. It is declared that its absorption is

The Central Vermont has already been taken over by the Grand Trunk Railroad. It is also said that it is only a matter of time until the Grand Trunk obtains control of the Boston and Maine, and the Maine Central. Outside of the Fitchburg, the New-York Central officials say they have no interest in New-England railroads, and they admit that the ultimate absorption of the Maine Central and Boston and Maine by the Grand Trunk is more than likely.
